COMPUTER APPLICATION   STD 9   Assignment – 3

[Note: Students solve these assignments only when the second video is uploaded. The second video will be uploaded very soon.]

Q1. Write a program to initialize two numbers and display their sum and product.

Q2. Write a program to initialize an integer variable and display its square and cube.

Q3. State two differences between numeric and non-numeric values.

Q4. Differentiate between integer and floating-point values.

Q5. State the default values of the variables of the following datatypes: byte, float, char, boolean.