Chapter 11 – The Climate of India

(Do neatly in your Social Studies notebook)

1.What are the three main seasons of India?

Ans. The three main seasons of India are summer, monsoon and winter.

2.Why is the temperature low in hills?

Ans. The temperature is low in hills because temperature falls with increase in height above the sea level.

3.Name any four hill stations of India.

Ans. Four hill stations of India are Shimla, Darjeeling, Ooty and Mount Abu.

4.Why are farmers dependent on the rainy season?

Ans. Farmers are dependent on the rainy season as their crops depend on rain.

5. Write a short note on the monsoon season.

Ans. Monsoon or rainy season follows summer season. It brings relief from the hot summer days and lasts from June to September. Farmers eagerly wait for the monsoon season. Some places in India get heavy rainfall while some receive little or no rainfall.
